Coatings | Special Issue : Tribology and Surface Engineering

Tribology in Industry journal publishes original research papers and review articles in all aspects of the science of friction, wear and lubrication. The scopes of the journal include, but are not limited to, the following fields: • Friction • Wear • Lubrication • Surface characterization • Surface engineering • Nanotribology

JOURNAL OF TRIBOLOGY AND SURFACE ENGINEERING

About this journal. The Journal of Engineering Tribology publishes high-quality, peer-reviewed papers from academia and industry worldwide on the engineering science associated with tribology and its application to machine elements. This journal is a member of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE).

The Special Issue on Tribology and Surface Engineering includes nine research articles and one review article. It concerns a very important problem of resistance to wear and shaping the properties of the surface layers of different materials by different methods and technologies. The topics of the presented research articles include reactive direct current magnetron sputtering of silicon ...

Granular lubricants usually refer to dry, cohesionless, hard particles that transfer momentum and accommodate surface velocity differences through shearing and rolling at low shear
